

Here's The Right Way To Build A Chicken Coop!

2016-06-12 08:39:03 By Alan Urban

If you have a hammer and nails or a good drill, and a weekend afternoon, you can build your own chicken coop, spending less than the price of a new one or even for free.

Craigslist and local retail outlets are often a good source of used pallets, empty wooden crates and other scrap wood that you can get for free or at a minimal cost. You just need to know how to do it!

Chicken wire can be affordably sourced at a local hardware or farm supply store, along with a few hinges and a lock. With an afternoon of labor you can have a secure chicken coop for a handful of laying hens.

Here's a really cool infographic from Urban Chickens Network about steps to take when building a chicken coop!

Click on the banner below if find out more about the homesteading secrets that helped our ancestors survive!

CLICK HERE

To find more survival secrets that we lost to history

Watch video >>

This article has been written by Gabrielle Ray for Survivopedia.

Copyright :

All this contents are published under Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 2.5 Generic License.

for reproduced, please specify from this website Survivopedia AND give the URL.

Article link : <https://www.survivopedia.com/?p=16828>