

[VIDEO] Pocket Survival Kit (PSK) – Restraint Escape Necklace

When the SHTF, people become desperate real fast and your prepping efforts will make you a target if you're either not careful or just unlucky.

While you'd never want to be captured by anyone and your security measures should prevent it, there may come a point where it's better to get captured and live to fight another day than to go down fighting. While not exactly part of the Pocket Survival Kit (PSK), this restraint escape necklace is a discreet way to get your freedom back if worse comes to worst and should never be more than an arm's length away from you.
